In the shadows of white columns,
we stop to hear the chimes.
Worn steps on which we linger slowly yield to time.

But when we doubt our future's course
our honor sets us free:
a timeless trust in our Alma Mater,
Washington and Lee.

As the bells ring out the hour and echo through the halls, we sense in this brief moment the strength within these walls.

But when we doubt our future's course
our honor sets us free:
a timeless trust in our Alma Mater,
Washington and Lee.

THE LEYBURN LIBRARY
WASHINGTON & LEE UNIVERSITY
LEXINGTON, VA 24450

When the sun peeks over the Blue Ridge Mountains in the morning and stretches the shadows of Lee Chapel across the Front Lawn, the campus of Washington and Lee University comes alive.

Faculty and staff begin the day as students hustle to class, stopping to chat with friends or occasionally passing a familiar dog roaming the campus. Along the Colonnade and plaza, a certain congeniality brought on by our speaking tradition prevails.

Though Washington and Lee is located in the little town of Lexington, the columns along the Colonnade have welcomed scholars and visitors for more than 200 years. Lee Chapel has hosted many distinguished guests, and all who have come here have experienced Washington and Lee's own tradition embedded in everyday life.

Academically, the typical class size provides an excellent learning environment not found at larger universities. Students and professors develop personal relationships, and it is not uncommon for a professor to invite students for dinner.

But every student knows college life isn't completely academic, and at Washington and Lee, the traditions are carried beyond the Hill. The prestigious Honor System exists not only in the classroom, but in the moral standard of living. The traditionally strong Greek tradition is supported by the university's Fraternity Renaissance and the increasing interest in sororities.

Subtle traditions are evident as well, such as frisbee games on the Front Lawn, or trips to Goshen, giving way in the winter to snowball fights in the quad, taking advantage of Lexington's one or two yearly snowfalls.

Road trips are a tradition too. Whether to D.C. or to Roanoke, road trips allow students to escape Lexington's small-town atmosphere. The Foxfield Horse Races at Charlottesville in the fall and spring give W&L students their best reason for tailgate parties.

Of course, the nightlife in Lexington relies mostly on one's ingenuity. The Bone joined

Wilson Field

Spanky's and the Palms in the entertainment scene, offering live bands on most weekends. These getaways gave students an alternative to the usual fraternity social scene, or sometimes the perfect place to celebrate a 21st birthday. Although most students look forward to the weekend and follow the "work hard, play hard" philosophy, the library on exam weeks becomes the nightly center of activity, as students cram for one last push before breaks.

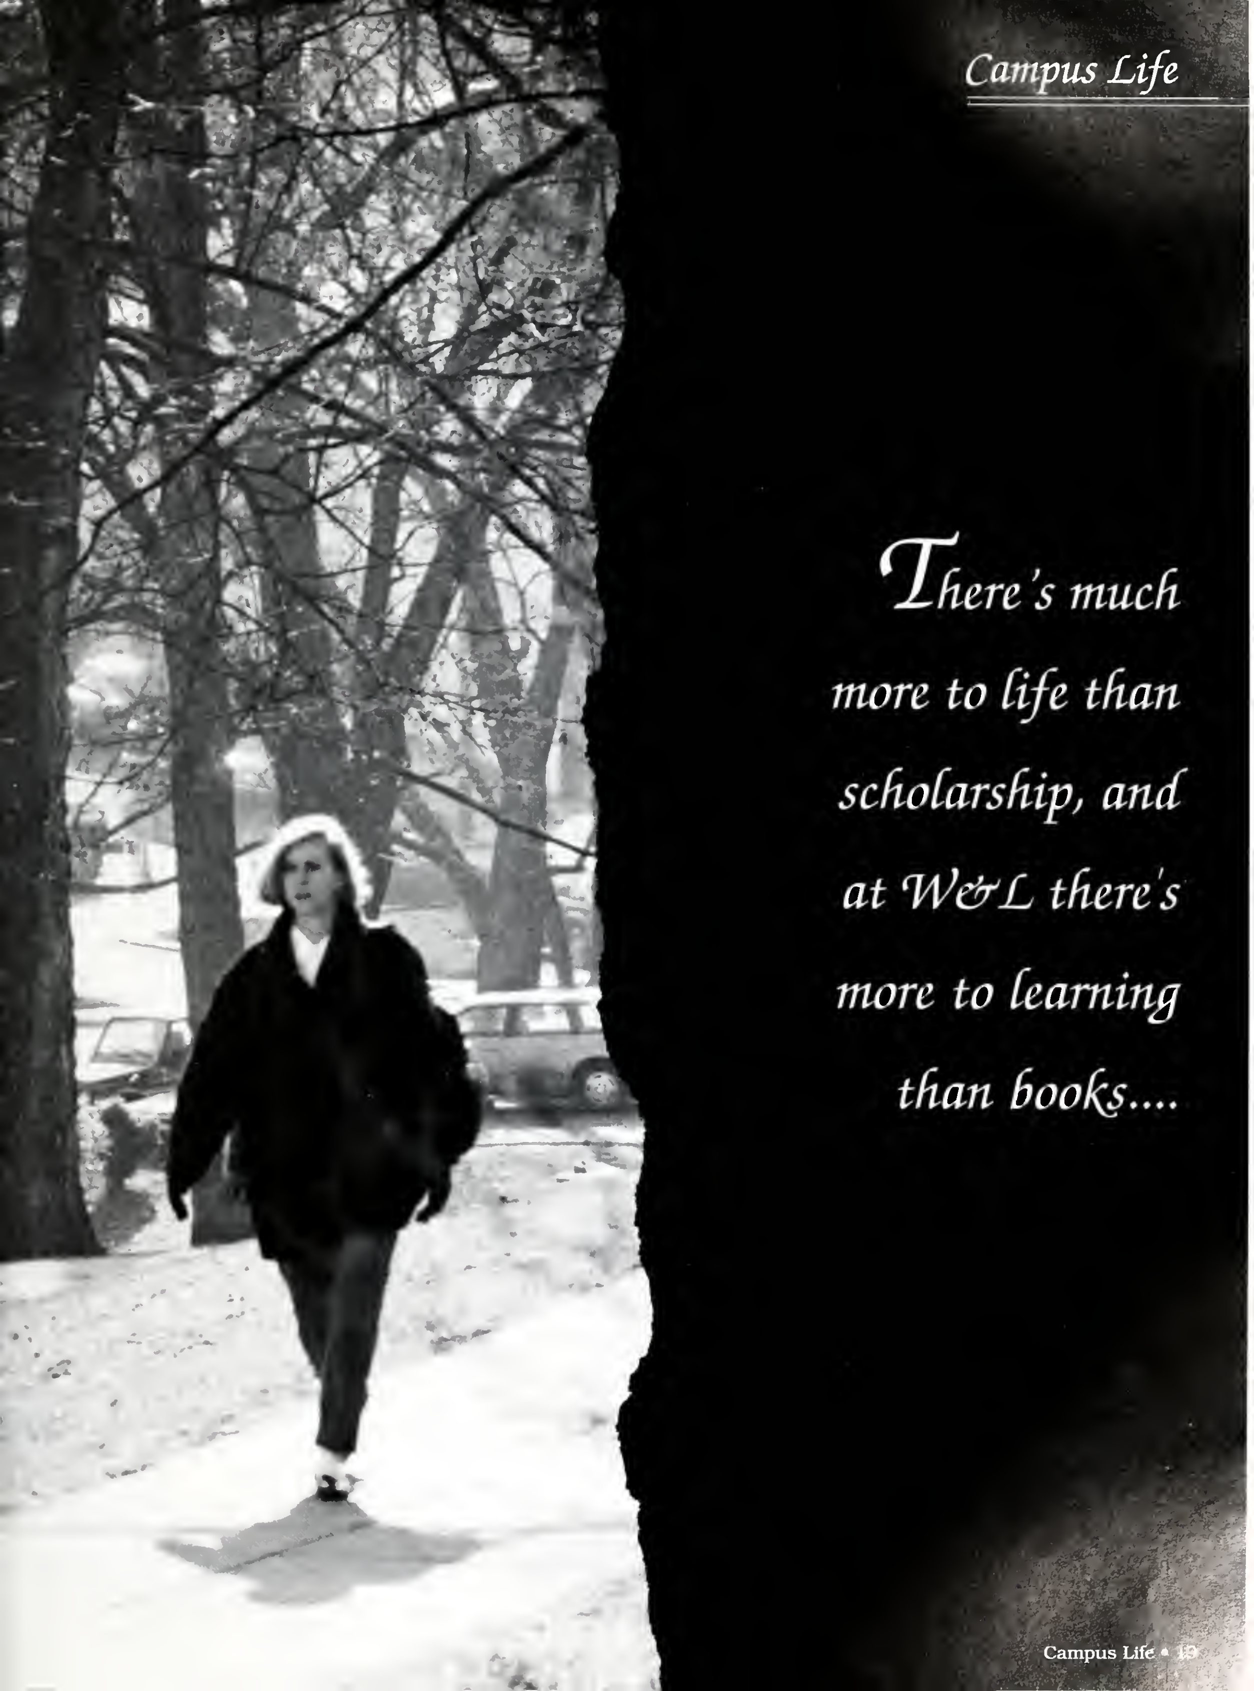
As the day draws to a close and the campus gradually returns to sleep, leaving only Security and the Cadaver Society to roam the Hill, the magic of Washington and Lee does not fade. For both day and night, our traditions shine, giving Washington and Lee University a distinction all its own.

—Anthony Catalano



There's much more to life than scholarship, and at W&L there's more to learning than books....

A New Rush

The fall social scene started early with the opening of 1992's Men's Rush. Carloads of rushees were taken out to the country houses to enjoy afternoons of skeet shooting, softball, or rope swinging, only to take a break for some broiled crabs, barbecued pig or fajitas.

At night, all the fraternities held band parties open to all students, giving the rushees an opportunity to meet the members. Thanks to the Fraternity Renaissance, the majority of the fraternities were able to use their newly renovated houses for most of these events.

On Friday, September 25th, the rushees met at the fraternity houses to eat dinner and formally accept their bids.

As the rushees went to open houses, they narrowed their choices from nine to four, and as Rush came to an end, the men received their bids. Ninety-one percent of the men who participated in Rush accepted bids.

"Tear Night" was run a little differently. On Friday, September 25th, the rushees met at the fraternity houses to eat dinner and formally accept their bids. Later that night, the rushees and everyone else were eager to celebrate the close of Rush at band parties.

Traffic, Laura Ashley dresses, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Port - A - Pots, alcohol, sunburn and horses. What do all these things bring to mind? Charlottesville's fall and spring steeple chases that draw thousands of college students to the Virginia countryside. The stationary lines of traffic leading to Foxfield guarantee a day of socializing, sunning and wandering through crowds of tailgaters to find friends. Many spend all day with horses galloping around them, never glimpsing the races. Foxfield is yet another timeless W&L tradition that focuses on friends and fun, and one that inspires happy horse-race memories in all of us.

Coming Home Down Main St.

The streets of Lexington were busy October 1-3, 1992. Homecoming was a combination of new traditions and old friends reminiscing about their days at W&L. In all, about 450 alumni returned to Lexington for this grand event.

Widespread Panic played at the Pavilion on Friday night to kick off the Homecoming festivities. Saturday morning, downtown Lexington hosted a Homecoming parade, the first one in over thirty years. Jugglers, fire trucks and the new Rockbridge County High School Marching Band started the parade, but the highlight was the floats representing the W&L fraternities, sororities, and student organizations.

Trick or Treat?

Witches, warlocks and masked monsters roamed the streets of Lexington this Halloween, searching for the perfect bash to crash. And because the ghoulish day finally fell on a Saturday, there was too much going on to see it all. Once students decided what kind of creature or character to become, they could party at Fiji's annual Heaven & Hell blowout, Chi Psi's costume bash featuring "Lost in the Supermarket," a cold but crowded get-together at Windfall, or at just about any other favorite fraternity party-place. Lambda Chi hosted their annual Haunted House for Lexington kids, and local trick-or-treaters were invited to go door-to-door in Gaines. Those that chose to travel the streets in search of goodies knew that they were safe under the watchful eyes of Theta's Witch-watchers. The traces of costumes and pumpkins that littered the party rooms on Sunday morning were evidence enough that Halloween at W&L was "frightfully" successful.

Music to Your Ears

W&L students never have to look far for entertainment. SAB and other organizations do a great job booking bands and other activities for campus. Homecoming kicked off the year with Widespread Panic. Then, for Christmas Weekend, the popular college band, The Spin Doctors, played. Indecision made several appearances on and off campus, as did the Megaphonics. The biggest band of the year was no doubt the Dave Matthews Band. Matthews always attracted a huge crowd when he visited campus, and a lot of students made the weekly Tuesday night exodus t Charlottesville to Trax to see the band play. I was appropriate that Dave playe at the end-of-the-year bash, th Senior Party.

Opening Night

The Lenfest Center for the Performing Arts had a very successful season. In addition to student performances and recitals, the University hosted numerous guest performers who attracted not only the W&L community, but the Lexington community as well. The seasoned opened with The Imaginary Invalid by Moliere. The Heidi Chronicles, starring Erin Walsh as Heidi , traced the life of a woman growing up from 1965 to 1990. In February, Miss Julie took to the stage, which was written in 1888, and is still being performed.

Besides performing, theater students had the opportunity to shine when they wrote or directed their plays. Say I Love You, But Whisper , written and directed by Richard Cassone filled the house, and the one acts, including Dreams of Glory, directed by Heather Aussiker, Hidden in This Picture, directed by Rosanne Cornbrooks, and Talk to Me Like the Rain, and Let Me Listen, directed by Erin Walsh, also brought the crowd coming back for more.

> Students also had the opportunity to shine when they wrote or directed their plays.

Words of Wisdom

Again this year, Contact and other student organizations hosted speakers. The year started with speaker G. Gorden Liddy, a former Nixon administration official. In the Nixon administration, Liddy served first as special assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and in 1971 began his tenure as staff assistant to the President. Today, Liddy hosts a D.C. radio program and is the author of three bestsellers.

Keeping in step with our nation's political concerns, W&L hosted Oliver North, who spoke on "The Courage to Lead," which emphasized problems in America such as the growing deficit and declining morality. North voiced his concern that the American public has not put the best leadership in office. He stressed that each American can help these problems by contributing to the community.

One year after the Los Angeles riots, the controversy was still hot enough to pack Lee Chapel for a debate between former Los Angeles Police Chief Daryl Gates and American Civil Liberties Union President Nadine Strossen. Gates and Strossen debated the issue of police brutality under the topic of "Law and Order and the L.A. Riots."

All in all, Washington and Lee hosted a great number of prominent and informative speakers who shared their ideas and beliefs with the W&L community.

W&L students can be found all over the country as well as all over the world, taking advantage of vacation time and programs that the school offers. Since W&L has such random vacations that never seem to coincide with other schools, students organize trips that range from the KAs and Phi Delts sailing in the Bahamas, to the PiKAs skiing in February. A lot of students head to the beach for spring break, Destin, Florida being one of the more popular.

But, the travel W&L students do is not all fun and games. Many take advantage of the school's programs during the six-week term and travel t exotic places. The biology department takes a group to th Galapagos Islands and to Cost Rica. The Russian departmen takes a trip every spring fo their language students. Commencement Day

Graduation is a bittersweet moment for every one involved. Students are excited to have met the requirements through classes and exams. Professors are proud to see their students receive tangible recognition of all their hard work. But it is also a sad moment. For students, it means the end of their college careers and parting with close friends and professors. For professors, it is the day to say goodbye to yet another generation of students. However, regardless of all the mixed feelings, the weather cooperated this year, and one couldn't ask for a better ceremony. Thousands of Somalis were plagued by one of the worst famines in history.

On Feb. 26, 1993, a terrorist bomb exploded in a parking garage under the World Trade Center.

of Belet Huen, Baidoa, Bardera and Hoddur, and airdrops to smaller villages in the region.

U.S. Marines arrived in Somalia on Dec. 9, 1992, to assist in curtailing the wanton, widespread violence and prevent looting of relief shipments.

The troops patrolled the meanest streets of Mogadishu with a soft touch.

Children waved as they passed or ran to shake hands with those who had come to help.

Their goal was to provide safe passage for food delivery to starving Somalis.

Closer to home, the country focused on the devastating forces mother nature brought to bear.

Hurricane Andrew struck southern Florida on Aug. 24, 1992, with winds gusting to 164 mph and a 12-foot tidal surge that flattened many homes, uprooted trees, flung boats into the streets and wrecked an Air Force base.

The hurricane continued on, carving its way through the plantation country of Louisiana, throwing tornadoes like darts at a 100-mile-wide target and pumping torrents of rain at storm-weary Louisianans.

Fifty-five deaths were directly or indirectly linked to the hurricane — 41 in Florida, 10 in Louisiana and four in the Bahamas.

The hurricane's 54-hour rampage, the most expensive natural disaster ever in the country, caused an estimated $20 billion damage in Florida, $1.5 billion in Louisiana and $250 million in the Bahamas.

"It's like a bomb hit," said one Florida City resident, looking at the remains of the trailer park where he and his wife had lived.

Hurricane Andrew reeked havoc as it tramped across the southern peninsula of Florida.

President George Bush, Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari take part in NAFTA.

Tent cities were set up in Florida with room for 3,800 people.

While Western Europe has been working hard to organize the European Community, the North American continent successfully completed an economic arrangement of its own. Former President Bush and the leaders of Canada and Mexico participated in a ceremony in October 1992 to spotlight an agreement designed to create the world's largest and richest free trade zone.

"This meeting marks a turning point in the history of our three countries," Bush said as Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari looked on.

The three leaders watched as their trade ministers initialed a 2,000-page document that was negotiated in August 1992.

The NAFTA accord would create the world's largest free trade area by removing all trade barriers among the countries over 15 years. Bush said the agreement ultimately will create jobs in this country, but opponents said it could cost up to 550,000 U.S. jobs over the next decade.

...and at W&L...

Washington and Lee also kept a close eye on the elections, beginning with the Mock Convention. However, W&L students' interest in the elections did not end March 8, 1992. In the fall, students participated in a mock debate held in the GHQ. Students auditioned to portray the different candidates, and their peers came to the GHQ to watch the debate. Also, both the College Democrats and the Young Republicans organized their own discussion groups, activities, and some even traveled to nearby cities such as Richmond and Washington to watch one of the official debates and to participate in the inaugural festivities.

A poll was conducted on campus before the elections asking students how they would vote. Although it varied from the national results, the vote for the democratic candidate was surprisingly high for a traditionally conservative school.

Election '92 — Three Coins in the Fountain

In domestic affairs, the nation's focus was on the presidential elections. It was a three-way race between President George Bush, Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton, and H. Ross Perot.

George Bush and Dan Quayle represent the Republicans in the 1992 election.

Presidential candidate Bill Clinton and his running mate, Sen. Al Gore, held arms aloft and stood before a convention hall brimming with euphoria and confidence on July 17, 1992, in New York's Madison Square Garden. Exhilaration swept through the convention hall.

In an emotional address to the convention, Clinton told delegates he accepted the nomination " in the name of all the people who do the work, pay the taxes, raise the kids and play by the rules — the hard-working Americans who make up our forgotten middle class."

Ross Perot (above) announces his plans to re-enter the election. Clinton (left) is sworn in as the 42nd President.

The speech brought to a festive, footstomping close a four-day Democratic convention that adopted a moderate platform reflecting the message of its baby-boomer ticket.

"Jobs. Health care. Education. These commitments aren't just promises from my lips," Clinton said. "They are the work of my life."

In Houston, Texas, the Republican Party gathered to establish their platform and nominate incumbent president George Bush to represent them in the November elections.

President Bush appeared on large video screens as he accepted the presidential nomination during the Republican National Convention at the Houston Astrodome on Aug. 20, 1992. Bush struck a new defiant tone in his acceptance speech — a marked contrast to the 1988 oration in which he promised a "kinder and gentler nation."

Selling his vision for the next four years, President Bush said, if given a new term, he would propose an across-the-board tax cut to the new Congress that would convene in January 1993. He said the tax cuts would have to be offset by spending reductions, which he did not specify, to keep from swelling the deficit.

Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle roused the GOP delegates to cheers as they accepted their party's nominations for a second term. Bush vowed to go to "every corner of this nation" in the political fight of his life to beat Bill Clinton and "clear out the deadwood" in Congress.

The 1992 Presidential elections were anything but ordinary, thanks to the man representing the independent party, H. Ross Perot. In May 1992, Ross Perot was a potential president, but then he withdrew from the race. The Perot Factor was reintroduced to presidential politics 11 weeks to the day after the Texas billionaire abandoned plans to run, saying he had concluded he could not win. Many analysts view his re-entry as a selfish attempt at redemption by a political novice who failed to realize what he was getting into months earlier and then wanted to heal a wounded ego.

As he rejoined the race, Perot said he was running to win. Whatever his motivation — Perot affected the race even if he never left third place.

Candidate Bill Clinton plays the saxophone on "The Arsenio Hall Show."

As the results rolled in from around the country on election night, the country stayed tuned to their televisions waiting for the predictions and the conclusions. After a long night, The Democratic ticket had won, and Bill Clinton and Al Gore were to be inaugurated in January.

The air filled with cheers as William Jefferson Clinton was sworn into office as the 42nd president of the United States on Jan. 20, 1993.

Sports and Entertainment Year in Review

In the world of sports, the globe's eyes turned to the 1992 Summer Olympics. An era of amateurism passed into an age of professionalism, and the Olympics were transformed forever, when professional athletes were allowed to compete in the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain.

Countering the attacks of commercialism, coach Chuck Daly argued that the presence of pros could do nothing but enhance the event. "There's 183 countries and 3 billion people watching these games," Daly said. "And somewhere out there now is a 13-year-old who wants to be a Michael or a Magic, a Larry or a Patrick. That's the role of these games," he said. "That's what happens in all of these sports. It gives people a dream."

Shannon Miller performs her floor execrises at the 1992 Summer Olympics in Bareclona, Spain.

The United States emerged from its two-decade Olympic funk, finishing only four behind in the closest medals race since America won in 1964 in Tokyo. Now it stands poised to rule the sports world in Atlanta in 1996 after arguably its greatest Summer Games.

America's 108 medals surpassed by one the total in 1968 and trailed only the inflated totals of the Soviet-boycotted 1984 Los Angeles Games and the 1904 St. Louis Games, attended by just 12 nations.

The 1992 World Series also took on a more international characteristic as the Toronto Blue Jays took baseball's championship outside the United States for the first time ever, beating the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings in Game 6.

After surviving more ninth-inning magic from the Braves, the Blue Jays won it all — and lost their loser's label forever — when Dave Weinfield's first World Series extra base hit scored two runs with two out.

"It's been a long, hard battle," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said. "But I said from opening day, these guys have been focusing on this very thing."

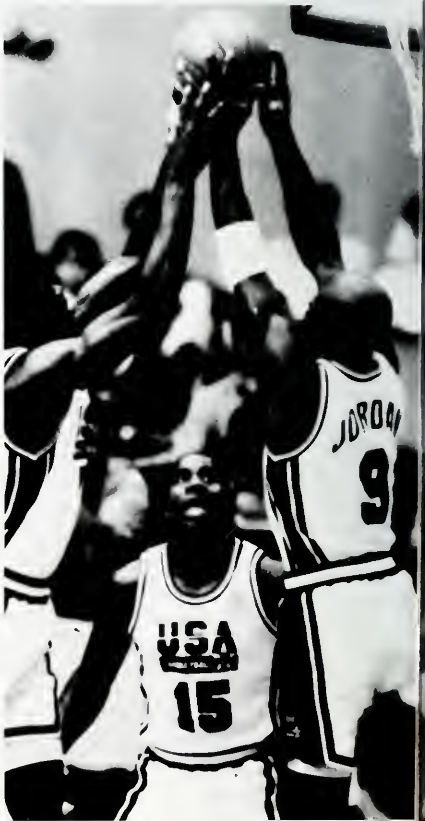
The Braves, meanwhile, became the first team to lose consecutive World Series since the 1977-1978 Los Angeles Dodgers.

A cheering, chanting, delirious sea of humanity flooded Toronto's city center on Oct. 25.

The glow from this win could keep the Canadians warm all winter.

"We stopped the chop," or, "The chop stops here," shouted revelers referring to the Atlanta fans' ritual.

On the music entertainment scene, the MTV Video Music



The "Dream Team" shoots their way though the Summer Olympics.

Awards in Los Angeles were the place to be. Van Halen and the Red Hot Chili Peppers swept the ninth annual MTV Awards held on Sept. 9, 1992. The Red Hot Chili Peppers won the awards for breakthrough video, viewer's choice and art direction. Annie Lennox accepted her award for best female video for "Why" from her best-selling double album, "Diva." Metallica won the Best Metal/Hard Rock Video award for "Enter Sandman." Guns N' Roses celebrated their Michael Jackson Video Vanguard Award for "November Rain."

On a more somber note, the 1992-1993 year saw the deaths of many enormous contributors to the sports and entertainment world. Of those were ballet dancer Rudolf Nureyev, jazz musician Dizzy Gillespie, and tennis player Arthur Ashe.

Accent on Art

We at duPont are an arty crew,
Studying the masters both old and new
(And noting, yes, that some are women too!)
Telling the difference 'tween Manet and Monet;
Man Ray and Paul Klee; Robert and, yes, Sonia Delaunay.
Spanning the cultures from Sesshu to Titian,
Remembering slides with no sins of omission.
Gallery shows with few misconceptions,
Feast of palettes and palates at opening receptions.
We drag you to D.C. with many a yawn,
Earliest for some since the day you were born.
Dim lights in 109 lead to napping in lecture?
Now what can you say about Greek architecture?
Inside the studio, stretching the canvas,
Outside the studio, sketching the campus;
While down in Howe Annex they're mastering mechanics
Of welding and molding, without too much coddling.
Our students love beauty, have culture galore,
Art history and drawing and painting and more.
We dish it all out with such grace and good cheer,
That once you are gone you will wish you were here.

Let's Experiment

Contrary to the usual reflex generated by an initial inspection, this is NOT the result of a horrible experiment gone wrong. What you see is the aggregate result of years of careful schooling, long hours of laboratory work, and persistent contemplation of those questions which continue to haunt a chemist: the nature of the electron, entropy, quantum mechanics, and why the organic lab smells as bad as it does. (On the other hand, maybe this IS the result of a horrible experiment gone bad.)

Merging Cultures

When you see a Buddhist altar on the front porch, and the Red House is decorated for New Year in February, it doesn't mean that we've gone Asiatic. We're just making the point that it takes a little more than grammar and a dictionary to communicate in Chinese and Japanese. And when the kitchen is in operation, your nose tells you that Asia has a heap more to offer than the sound of one hand clapping.

Poetry and Prose

Anyone who has stepped in the door of Payne Hall knows that the English faculty doesn't easily agree about how to hang a poster, let alone what it does as its life work, or how to help its students along with their life works. But we all believe, as people who live by and for teaching reading and critical/creative writing, what our colleague Dabney Stuart wrote for our senior colleague — a brilliant teacher and fine scholar — Sidney Coulling on his retirement:

How we Understand is everything, which we forget,
Leaving to those who come afterward
Levels to build on, soundless integuments
Insistent beneath their knowing, or unknowing.
Nobody steps aside without handing on,
Giving to time being, filling the ear with light.
"Presence," lines 10-16

~~The Inside Scoop~~

Another year has elapsed, and we in Reid Hall still have better toys than any other department. From our perch on the WLUR tower, we've watched the Watson Gallery spires and Co-op grill flames reach for the heavens. All the while, we have been providing the community with the latest in news and rumors. Anyway, we want to thank Melissa Cox for running things, coffee and popcorn. We want to express how much we missed Comrade Smith fall term. Everyone owes Professor Jennings a big howdy-doody for keeping us out of court for another year. Professor MacDonald finally traded in those long, red boots for something more conservative. Finally, in this year's awards, we honor Professor Richardson for his cool, leather fashion sense — hey, long hair came back; and, for the 10th year running, the Cutest Child Award goes to Professor deMaria. (For Sara, that is.) God bless the seniors.

To be sung to the tune of the "W&L Swing":
When Dymphna calls the music team in line,

In choral arts we've got both Birch and Spice,
And Kolman's instrumental forces sure are nice.
The keyboard skills of Gaylard are reknowned,
And Brouwer's compositions always sound,
With Watanabe, Catherine G. and Cynthia P.

Why Not?

This department has sometimes been characterized as a zoo department. What this characterization is supposed to produce in the hearer is a sense of a vast disparity among the staff (as our catalogue refers to us). This appraisal is arguably successful since it raises many objections. One of us might dismiss it on the grounds that animals in zoos have plenty of similarities, such as moving around and taking naps. Another might note that the whole analogy is trivial and unhelpful, since anything can be said to be like anything else. Another, sniffing anthropocentrism, points out that most comparisons with animals do the animals injustice. Some beavers lie about during much of the day, sharks do not lend money, and real sheep never feel sheepish — only persons do that.

After some silence, another of us might ask if the comparison is intended to include reptiles and birds, noting that he has twice been compared to owls, and never, to his knowledge, to snakes.

One animal rights enthusiast declares the whole discussion odious and suggests that if there is any justice anywhere, the zoos would be emptied of animals and filled with philosophers, who would then be, as usual, prisoners behind the walls of their own doctrines.

~~Applied Science~~

The Department of Physics and Engineering traces its roots to the presidency of General Robert E. Lee (CSA, Ret). He inserted applied science into the Washington and Lee curriculum, toward the end of rebuilding the South after the war. In Lee's own words, "I saw the importance of engineering, first hand, on the battlefield at Petersburg. I came upon a young Confederate soldier, stunned but alive, having taken a Yankee bullet squarely upon his left breast. His life was spared only by the miraculous intervention of his plastic pocket protector which prevented the bullet from penetrating his heart."

Learning in Lenfest

The Theatre Department continues to luxuriate in its new home in the Lenfest Center. Most of us have mastered the new high-tech equipment — the computer lighting boards, the digital sound system, the Macintosh paint programs. Everyone, that is, but Al. But in all fairness to Dr. Gordon, he has become adept at sending important "E"-mail to Dean Elrod. Tom Ziegler is still ecstatic over being liberated from the old Troubadour Theatre and continues to design scenery at least 20 feet tall. Joseph Martinez returns from his fall sabbatical with his newly completed, long awaited manuscript, The Swords of Shakespeare. The painful memories of life in the cramped, drafty, dirty old Troubadour are slowly fading. In fact, one faculty member was heard recently talking about the "good old days in the Troub."

1992-93 was yet another successful year for the Alpha Rho Chapter of Beta Theta Pi. Betas were involved throughout the W&L community. President Dave Schiminger was inducted into ODK and Treasurer Jim Selway was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. Betas played important roles on the basketball, soccer, lacrosse and baseball teams.

Despite the valiant efforts of Jim Boyd, the house was able to stay off probation long enough to enjoy a spirited Christmas Weekend, several sorority mixers and the annual Jungle Party.

This spring Dana Arrighi begins his presidency following the breathtaking "I am not complacent" campaign speech. This June marks a turning point for AP. The last pre-Renaissance class graduates having undoubtedly left their mark on the house and university as well. Beta Theta Pi extends a hearty thanks to these 16 men for their contributions over the years and wishes them all the best of luck.

The Brothers of Alpha Omicron Delta of Chi Psi drank too much during Rush and, as a result, only got seven measly pledges. The navy blazers are a must for our next Rush, if it is to be a success.

Aside from our tremendous rush, we would like to thank the hard working men of Lexington and vicinity who exhibited such fine craftsmanship in renovating our dump of a Lodge. Lavender and yellow wall added to the plush decor we now enjoy. If you're not laughing, you're crying, I guess.

This year Troll was fanged, Phil acquired a taste for sushi, the Greek found someone who liked his souvlaki as much as he does, and Wilnut danced with the devil in the pale moonlight. As for Brando, you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink.

We won the IM trophy in bowling—so what?

When not at 21 Main, the brothers could be found at one of the Lodge's groovy party scenes. Lost in the Supermarket turned up every other weekend, and the grain punch dissolved the party room floor lacquer during the first two weeks of winter term. The Keg Police visited numerous times and the Beast was the first Jewish Santa at our Christmas Party.

Farewell to the graduating seniors, most of whom will be back in the Fall without jobs anyway. We had a fun year. Craig, Crenshaw, Troll, Jarhead, CokeCan, Quist, Big Kid, Beast, Scurry, Hicks, Marty, Scwegnut, Chavez, G-spot, Hoov, Brando, Main, Bilbo, Rockbone, Alf, Phil, Wilnut, Greek, Twinkie, Jackrag, Hartman, Woody, Frenchie, Cartnut, Spacebart, Lil' Grant, Gilman, Jackson, Chumley, Ogre, Gash, O'Queffe, Mung, Gonzo, Rerun.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College in Lexington, Virginia in 1865. Over 125 years later, the Alpha Chapter proved to be as solid as ever. Under the fearless leadership of Hank Huff and his advisors, Tom Washmon and Garret Licsher, KA played significant roles in many aspects of campus and community life. The brothers of KA were well represented in many leadership positions on the field and on the Hill. Not only were there KAs participating in varsity baseball, golf, basketball, soccer, and track, but there were KAs holding captains' positions on the football, wrestling and lacrosse teams. In addition, there were KA brothers committed to positions on the EC, SAB, Kathekon, class offices, IFC and SCC. KA was also proud to see two brothers inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. In the community, several KA brothers were dedicated to helping the homeless at Gladys House and volunteering as RARO coaches.

The biggest highlight of the year, however, was the opening of the newly renovated Kappa Alpha Mansion in January. Alumni and actives alike were greatly impressed with the improvements made through Fraternity Renaissance. (A special note: Goloid, Mingy, Sumdaddy, Ham has no pin. Braves (0-2). J.R.'s in love. No more "roadies" for Boone. Lexington is the Land of Milk and Honey- Bob S.)

The 1992-93 school year was one of continued success for the Mu Chapter of Kappa Sigma. Brothers excelled in athletics and academics, and many members were elected to high leadership positions on campus—including IFC president and senior justice, ODK President, EC vice president, cross county, golf, and rack captains, editor of The Column, VRB president, SAB treasurer, and STU chairman. Also, Brothers were asked to join prestigious leadership and academic societies, such as Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa.

Socially, Kappa Sigma had a very active calendar. After a successful Rush, the Dave Matthews Band played at Kappa Sigma—marking their first appearance on the W&L campus (and they were to return once more winter term). Foxfield, the Redneck Ball, Halloween, Christmas Weekend, Disco Inferno (a.k.a. the Hopper Dance), and Casino Night were all memorable (especially with the Dog's and Snake's late night activities). Many Tuesday nights were spent travelling to and from Charlottesville to hear Dave, Boyd, etc., and Wednesdays at Fishbait or McDowell inevitably sparked legendary stories—remember the "Streaker" at Fishbait?

The only disappointment about this year was saying goodbye to 18 great friends. Dick Dog left us in December, Lippy graduated one year too soon, and Pooley joined us one year too late. Then there were the 15 pledge brothers who stuck together through Goodloe, Kramer, and the "Egg Pass": Gila, Lt. Bo Hannah, Hamp, Dardan! "guys, let's think about this" Darden!, Nature Boy, Bob Vila, the Dog, Tay-Tay, Hopper, T-squared, Suave, Pig Pen, Rocky, Rhubarb, and Senor Howe.

The 1992-93 school year was both challenging and exciting for the Gamma Phi Zeta of Lambda Chi Alpha. As the academic year began, the chapter took in a freshman class which injected new spirit into the fraternity. This rebirth brought back many old successes which had almost been forgotten.

The chapter reasserted its academic prowess, ranking second for the fall term and first for the winter term. In addition, Gamma Phi heightened its participation in intramural sports. Community service was another high point, including projects such as the annual Haunted House for the children of Lexington, Virginia's Adopt-A-Highway program, and volunteer coaching of RARO soccer.

Brothers continued to be active on campus. Lambda Chis were included in many athletic organizations such as the Racquetball, Volleyball and Fencing clubs. We also found our members in several honor societies including Pi Sigma Alpha, Beta Gamma Sigma and Phi Beta Kappa. Brothers continued participation in the Liberty Hall Volunteers, the Calyx, and in Washington and Lee's radio station, WLUR.

The chapter enjoyed all of the major social events of the year. Homecoming included the usual post-halftime cocktail party leading to the band party later that night. Christmas Weekend brought Doug Clark and the Hot Nuts back to the house to continue the tradition. As well, Fancy Dress Weekend included a party with the Unknowns and was better than ever.

Gamma Phi looks forward to next year, which under the leadership of new president Bob Ferris, promises to bring more success, as the chapter continues its resurgence on campus.

The 1991-92 year proved to be a time for continuing tradition, as well as starting new ones. PDT had a very strong showing in Rush by taking 18 pledges. Moving into football season, PDT supported its players by tailgating during the pre-game and moving into the stadium to support the Generals during the game itself. Doug Clark and the Hot Nuts made their annual appearance over Parents'/Halloween Weekend. Over Christmas Weekend gift exchanges brought some good laughs! A Gold Club t-shirt, a pay rent or eviction notice for all girlfriends, and a Twins cap for all the Braves fans. In addition to these traditions, PDT started new ones too. PDT got extensively involved in community service: continued support of Rockbridge Are Recreation Organization(RARO) by supplying volunteers for football and basketball programs; Adopt-a-mile, the highway clean-up program; and the Big Brother/Sister program.

Editor's Note: Phi Delta Theta chose to resubmit 1991-92 copy and pictures to the Calyx.

Glance around the beautiful campus of Washington and Lee and you will see the brothers of Phi Gamma Delta everywhere. It doesn't matter if it's in the classroom, on the sports field, or in any extracurricular activities, the brothers of the Zeta Deuteron Chapter make their mark.

The Fij is noted for active participation in and support of all athletic events. P.J. Waicus was an All-American in water polo. Tom Mason is captain of the football team next year. Erik Treese started in baseball for the second straight year. Darren Johnson continued the excellence of Fij on the basketball court. Soccer, wrestling, swimming and track had their share of Fijis.

Scott Smith finished a brilliant college career by being inducted into Phi Beta Kappa, the school's highest academic organization. The overall brotherhood did extremely well academically as many brothers continued to raise their GPAs.

Fij brothers can also be seen leading campus activities. D.J. was the senior class Executive Committee representative. Many brothers were heard over the airwaves of WLUR or seen in Lenfest, performing various theatrical productions.

The social calendar was exceptionally strong with Heaven and Hell, St. Patty's Day, Champagnes, and the famous Fiji Islands, to name a few of the events. The upcoming year looks promising as the Fiji celebrates its 125th anniversary and seeks another 125 years of excellence from all the brothers at Phi Gamma Delta.

The 1992-93 school year turned out to be a very successful one for the brothers of Phi Psi. Following the fearless leadership of Lord Dark Helmut and his mighty Schwartz, the brothers of Phi Psi returned to their beloved, almost renovated Sacred Halls. A strong showing in Rush with 36..no..33..uh..30..finally 28 pledges boosted the spirit of the Phi Psi brothers and the budget. Phi Psi brothers represented the General's in football, soccer, track, lacrosse, rugby, golf, tennis, swimming, water polo and basketball. David DeMosely and Spud Brading gave excellent leadership as team captains of the track team and the basketball team, respectively. Josh "Spanky" MacFarland finished off three years of sturdy devotion to the Executive Committee (and Kappa) as President of W&L's student government. Also, with the over-abundance of armchair athletes, the Phi Psi brothers put on a strong showing in the bitter intramural competitions.

Sadly, we must also say farewell to a graduating senior class. Among those leaving and graduating are: the perennial Darrin "Satan Claus" Lockwood, Kevin "the organ" Gorman, Johnny Extendum Magnum, Keith "I think I'm pregnant" Camp, Fat Albert Crusty, Randy "There's no substitute for good groom" Devere, Steve Bill "9-1-1" Johnson, Chris "3-in-one-night" Shelton, Andy "Hopalong" Woodring, Dennis "shave my back" Grumbles, Dave "Whiney" Mahoney, Chris "Ronald McDonald" Cox, Slugger Scott SPEden, Stu "Do you know who my Dad is?" North, Doogie Howser Brooks, Michael Krista Napolean Steinbrook, and Jay "but he's my girlfriend's little brother" West.

The future for Phi Kappa Psi looks just as bright under the leadership of Dave McDannald (I didn't say McSkarda), the "you should have balled us all" senior class, a power hungry junior class, and a really large sophomore class (no offense Big Bob).

The 1992-93 school year has been kind to the brothers of Phi Kappa Sigma. After a sub-par performance in 1991-92, the Skulls bounced back, landing 16 freshmen during Rush. Soul Hat and Danger Zone kicked off the fall term with a bang, setting the tone for a Skullriffic school year. Parents' Weekend was an enjoyable time thanks to Col. Bruce and the Aquarium Rescue Unit. Phi Kap has managed to adjust to the new fraternity house as well. Although the parties have continued, there has been minimal damage inflicted upon our new home.

Winter term was extremely rewarding and a good time for all of us. Besides the weekly gatherings, the Skulls enjoyed a great Fancy Dress Ball. With the start of spring came lacrosse, a sport which is taken seriously at the Phi Kap house. The team completed another great season and can thank Senior Phi Kaps John Hunter (Captain) and David Lefkowitz for it. We enjoyed our spring trip to the Bahamas.

In retrospect, the 1992-93 academic school year has been a great success for Phi Kappa Sigma. In addition to having a good deal of fun, the Skulls managed to raise their GPA. With this, Phi Kap had leaders in sports and student government. Richard "Ogre" Burke and Bill Chappell were the presidents of the senior and junior classes, respectively. All in all, the year has been great. Congratulations to the graduating seniors and good luck to the underclassmen.

Pi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha began its 101st year at Washington and Lee by pledging 16 men. PiKA's fall term highlights included the annual Homecoming Party with The Awakenings and Halloween with the Root Doctors. PiKA closed out fall term with Christmas Weekend, highlighted by a band party with The Dynamic Upseters, and the presentation of the 70th annual Christmas Poem.

PiKA's winter calendar included the Ski the South Formal at Snowshoe Ski Resort, Slushapalooza with music provided by the Salamanders of Love and the infamous TESH, and Fancy Dress with Doug Clark and the Hot Nuts. Kegs at Munster were the highlight of Winter Term on Wednesday nights. In the spring PiKA enjoyed Alumni Weekend with The Unknowns. PiKA's Shotguns and Shooters party with Morris Ward and Eagle Wind was a great success.

PiKA bids farewell to 11 seniors and wishes them the best of luck. At the same time we anxiously await the future under new and strong leadership.

ΟΥΔΕΝ ΔΙΑΣΠΑΣΕΙ ΗΜΑΣ

As much as the Brothers of the Rho Chapter of Pi Kappa Phi have missed the tranquility of the infamous Warehouse, our newly renovated fraternity house served us well throughout the 1992-93 school year.

As usual, the social calendar was packed. Band parties were enjoyed every weekend but one and included performances by The Dave Matthews Band, Doug Clark and the Hot Nuts, Blue Miracle, The Stegmonds, Megaphonics and the Kingpins, to name a few. Fancy Dress, Christmas, Halloween, Homecoming, Rho's Ball and Alumni weekends were all memorable events. Annual trips to Florida, Mardi Gras and The Kentucky Derby were also enjoyed by those who went.

Although our social calendar was full, the house performed exceptionally well academically. The upperclassmen ranked third out of sixteen in fraternity academic standing. Our freshman class, a tight class of fifteen, is on the academic upswing.

On the national level, Rho Chapter of Pi Kappa Phi was voted the number one Pi Kap Chapter in the country for schools with between twelve and seventeen fraternities. On the local level, we were overall Intramural champions for the second year in a row, and we had brothers participating in many varsity sports including soccer, tennis, basketball, water polo and cross country.

Whatever accomplishments our house has achieved this year, none would have been possible without the participation and dedication of the senior class. Thanks and good luck: you will be missed.

As the dawn of the 1993-94 school year approaches, we have quite a lot to reflect on. Just as the tail of a comet flashes its fiery splendor across the night sky, the brothers of Virginia Sigma have left a wake of stardust memories and marriages. The bonds Dean Atkins has to Virginia Sigma are more than fraternal; they are eternal.

The Campbell Administration has brought us through the year triumphantly and passed the torch graciously to Phil's little brother. The precedent set by Robert "Just Do It" Jordan was a tough act for Jim "I Think I Can" Cooter. Although the runner-up Fighting Apples suffered a grueling loss in RARO softball, the Dawgs performed well throughout the year claiming titles in various other events.

Perhaps the biggest change we will face next year, will be the turnover in residences. The days of disco dancing and fecal races at Vegas are gone, but we have the Raisin and a place to store our hardware at the Toolshed.

This year we missed Bill Stafford, but his young squire delivered the gospel of Minerva. Like Jell-O congeals, so do the Brothers of Virginia Sigma. Goodnight teenagers, it's been fun!

The 1992-93 year marked the end of an era for the Zeta Chapter of Sigma Chi. It was the last year at our opulent and luxurious 2 Lee Avenue residence. The year was a successful one for the Zeta Chapter. Chip Ridge's sure-footed guidance helped us avoid many pitfalls throughout the year. Tom Fosnot and Dan Katzenbach were instrumental in a Rush that produced twenty pledges.

The Zeta Chapter continued to provide excellent leadership on the Hill as well. Evan Patterson was head of the Student Recruitment Committee. Bill Avoli was assistant head dorm counselor. Chip Ridge was Fancy Dress Co-Chairman. Kevin Batteh was President of the Outing Club. And Bob Tompkins was EC secretary. The Zeta Chapter was also well represented on the Washington and Lee athletic teams. T.R. Kinsey and Dan Katzenbach were members of the golf team, Kevin Hocking started for the ODAC champion lacrosse team, Chad Dobbins and Bill Garcia were vital members of the soccer team, and Pete Hammond played number 3 on the men's tennis team.

In April of 1993, the Zeta Chapter sponsored the first Derby Days in its history. It proved to be a smashing success providing fun for all while raising money for various local charities. Bob Tompkins and Mary Muehlburg were voted Derby King and Queen.

The 1993-94 year offers great excitement as we prepare to say goodbye to the old and hello to the new, as we move into our new fraternity house on Nelson Street.

The 1992-93 school year was again a fruitful one for the brothers of Sigma Nu Lambda Chapter at Washington and Lee University. Our year began with a healthy Rush, which ultimately yielded us with twelve initiates in March. Next year already is shaping up to produce another throng of fine men who would become Knights in the Legion of Honor.

When Bill Coffin wasn't getting his novel Overmind published, or Brian McClung wasn't landing a speaking role in "The Foreign Student," Sigma Nus were making waves across the campus, from playing an integral part in constructing the decorations at the Fancy Dress Ball (kudos to Leo Decanini and Joe Frampton) to contributing to the worthwhile services of the Writing Center (Heath Dixon and Todd Ammermann). Additionally, seniors Adam Craddock and Mark VanDeusen were inducted into Phi Beta Kappa, proving that despite a momentary drop in the house's GPA, Sigma Nu, or at least its seniors, maintained its academic virility.

Mark VanDeusen's admirable presence was also felt as Sigma Nu's napoleonic, yet somehow personable commander. Adam Craddock served as Lt. commander, Jason Aiken as treasurer, and Tim Wolff as pledge marshall. While the quality of our leadership has not changed, its collective height certainly has. Mark Crider, Jason "Opie" Dunn, Andy Barrick and Joe Frampton take the helm as this year's leaders of Lambda Chapter ride off into the sunset.

The senior class embellished the excitement of the year as they prepared to leave Lexington. Establishing new and exotic liaisons with The Palms personnel and test-driving every mug at Spanky's, the seniors easily quashed the theory that they sustained themselves solely on vitamin B12 supplements and Geritol, and proved the sophomore class to be a gang of scoffers. Among the departing seniors are John "Frito" Layman, Lou Alfieri (playing with really expensive toys at the Brookhaven Research Institute), and Scott "El Blanco" English, to name a few. But as they depart (Don Skelly notwithstanding), they do so believing that beyond the trials which await them outside of W&L, all becomes trivial, if only they believe in the life of love, walk in the way of honor, and serve in the light of truth.

No one thought we could do it again. So, we proved them all wrong in 1992-93, the year of Sig Ep. Rush gave us the second largest pledge class on campus establishing that Fall Term was only the beginning of our continued eminence. Virginia Epsilon maintained its willingness to break new ground by hosting an enormously successful mixer with the Minority Students Association. We also held fast to traditions old and new once again celebrating the Caveman Party and the King of Hearts' Ball. We had some great times with the Unknowns, North/South Night, Everything, Tropical Johnson, Dangerzone, The Megaphonics, Seize the Day, Rollie Grey, and everyone's favorite Blind Wilson Phillips.

Along with all our parties, we got a considerable amount of work done too, maintaining our third place G.P.A. and climbing still further out of the I.M. cellar, with a ninth place finish. Philanthropy received new life under the energetic leadership of John Hallet, who instituted several new programs and started getting more brothers out of the TV room and into the community. We again took a second place standing in the SAMS Lip-Sync Contest with a retro-disco number by the SPEE-GEES.

We experienced an incredible amount of respect from the Hill with Sig Eps once again maintaining key leadership positions on S.A.B., F.O.C., S.R.C., S.F.H.B., E.C., and all the other letters of the alphabet. Fancy Dress was fabulous thanks to Matt Hansen who also made Homecoming a widespread success and Christmas Weekend rock with The Spin Doctors as Entertainment Director of S.A.B. Brian Hucks grabbed the Co-Chair position of Student Recruitment and Robert Stewart was regularly quoted by the Phi for his E.C. involvement. Robert and Kris Fegenbush will be all over Gaines next Fall as R.A.s and Drew Hammond will acquire a family of Freshman as the first Sig Ep to be a dorm counselor in who knows how long.

We will fondly miss the leadership of the Yow and Rohne as they move on to bigger and better things, annihilating more dangerous squirrels and finally cutting the chit-chat. We also wish the best of luck to Jamie Turner and Matt Hansen as they enjoy jolly old England at Oxford next year. The Chapter is in capable hands under the leadership of President Jim Hess and continued success is a very safe bet. We all know that accomplishments are something to build on, not to rest on, so look out next year as Virginia Epsilon moves to Davidson Park and resumes improvement and growth.

The Xi Lambda Chapter of Chi Omega had another wonderful year in 1992-1993. The chapter's fearless president, Tricia Perdigon, led the chapter and the school as Homecoming Queen. Chi-O members were also inducted into ODK and Phi Beta Kappa.

But, Chi-Os aren't ones for all work and no play. The chapter had many fun social events as well. Along with a host of fraternity mixers, Chi-O also held Persephone's Gala and the White Carnation Ball and teamed up with Theta for the Headbangers' Ball.

Chi-O did its share of community service projects as well. Chi-Os helped the Catholic Campus Ministry sponsor the "Making Strides Walk-a-Thon", which benefitted the American Cancer Society. Chi-O also hosted the "Vote for Your Favorite Professor" contest to benefit Rockbridge Area Adult Literacy, helped with Habitat for Humanity and participated in a host of other activities. Closer to home, the chapter also carved pumpkins and placed them along the Colonnade and served as timers for the swim team.

As well, Chi Omegas were active on the swim, soccer, lacrosse, volleyball, and tennis teams. Chi-O members were part of Calyx staff, SAB, the Fancy Dress Steering Committee, and Superdance.

For Chi Omega, 1992-93 was a wonderful year. Although we are sad to see the class of 1993 leave, we can take consolation in our 27 new initiates. With our great new members, and the leadership of next year's president, Stacy Colfry, 1993-1994 can only be better.

Thetas have once again kept themselves busy throughout the 1992-93 school year. The Zeta Iota Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta has been visible in all aspects of campus life.

We started off the year with our traditional Witch Watch, patrolling Lexington neighborhoods with VMI Keydets. Witch Watch was followed by the annual Gong Show, one of Theta's most well-known events, thrown to raise money for Court Appointed Special Advocates. Our pledges carried the service tradition into winter when they won third place in the Lip Synch Contest for SAMS. We spent the spring planting trees near BV and hosting Theta's annual Triathalon.

Theta's kept themselves busy as well. Our annual parties ranged from our black tie Twin Stars Ball to the down and dirty Headbangers' Ball with Chi-O. Kristen planned a great afternoon cookout at Zollman's this spring, much like our tailgates for Homecoming and Parents' Weekend in the fall. With all this added to our schedule of mixers with fraternities and parties with other sororities, there was always something to do.

Zeta Iota wishes its graduating seniors all the best in the years to come. We know they will all be successful wherever they go. While we will miss them next year, we have 27 great new members who will keep Theta spirits up. We know we can count on their help for another great year for Theta in 1993-94.

The Zeta Tau Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma had a fun and exciting year under the leadership of Walton Eagan. Kappas were busy with service work, social events, and campus leadership.

We kicked off the year with our SPCA balloon sales at the Parents' Weekend Football Game. Then, we found some cute boys to pose as Santas outside of the Co-op for the faculty and area children. Other service activities included our annual Bowl-a-thon for United Way, the SAMS Lip-Sync, Sigma Chi Derby Days, and PTA babysitting.

In the social scene Kappas ranged from sophisticated to silly. Kappas began the year by winning first prize in the float competition during the Homecoming Parade. Parents' Weekend included a tailgate at the football game for members and their families and a band party out at Poplar Hill with Beta and Phi Kap. Next, came our first annual Monmouth Duo with Pi Beta Phi with the Stegmonds. Then we moved on to the General Headquarters to dance to night away at our Fall Formal. The Winter held our annual Kite n' Key mixer with Theta in the Boiler Room, line dancing to '70s tunes at the Disco Inferno Tacky Party with Kappa Sig, and our annual Fancy Dress dinner for Kappas and their dates at the Alumni House. In the spring, Kappas started the term with our annual Wine n' Cheese mixer with Beta to sounds by Ollie Drew. Our Crush Party at the Bone sent big sisters scrambling to set up their sisters with the boy of their dreams. Kappas ended the year with a Sunset Mixer with Pi Kappa Phi at the Pole House, and finally our Spring Formal under the stars.

Kappas were also found at the forefront of campus leadership. Kappas were inducted into ODK, Phi Beta Kappa, Kathekon, Student Recruitment, and the Student-Faculty Hearing Board, to name a few areas. Virginia and Valerie pulled off an amazing night at the Silver Screen serving as chairwoman and auditor of the 86th annual Fancy Dress Ball, along with many Kappas helping out on the Steering Committe and serving as contract workers. In addition, Kappas sang their hearts out in Chamber Choir and Jubilee, not to mention Marina's amazing talents playing the viola. Carol Pierce and Susan Mosley also dedicated themselves to a trying, yet rewarding year on the Executive Committee.

Kappa athletes included key players on the women's lacrosse, soccer, tennis, track, swimming, basketball, and volleyball teams, with Claire Dudley and Bekah Prince winning All-American swimming honors at Nationals, and Josephine Schaeffer blowing away just about every ODAC cross country record.

Overall, 1992-93 will always stand in our minds as a year in which our chapter grew closer through working together towards the achieving of countless goals. The only sad note in ending such a year is saying goodbye to all of our amazing seniors. You will each be dearly missed, but never forgotten. Each senior added a unique quality to the chapter that will be preserved forever. Your ideas, your leadership, and your continual willingness to give of yourselves will serve as timeless standards that Zeta Tau will constantly strive to maintain. But we'd better see you each at next year's Homecoming tailgate!

During its first full year here at Washington and Lee, Pi Beta Phi has continued to grow and integrate itself on campus and with other sororities. Virginia Theta organized its first Rush, a complete success, with 24 members in its first pledge class.

Pi Phi kicked off the school year with its first annual fall formal, Beaux and Arrows, in October. Pi Phi got together with Kappa Kappa Gamma for the first Monmouth Duo, celebrating the founding of the two sororities at Monmouth Duo—Pi Phi was founded first, of course! Theta celebrated Spring Fling with the Pi Phis and we got together with Chi-O for a Blue Jean Ball. Pi Phi also mixed with Chi Psi at Halloween, and Fiji, the first mixer with our pledges.

In addition to its active social life, Pi Phi had an outstanding turnout with Sigma Chi's Derby Days charity event, in which Pi Phi won Derby King and Queen—Mary Muehlberg and Bob Tompkins- and tug of war and volleyball. Pi Phi also participated in the first year of Intramurals for sororities and independents, in which Pi Phi was the overall champion—thanks to Coach Lindsay!

This school year has been very successful for Virginia Theta—we will miss our RGC, Lauren Gross, who has helped us through so much, including a very successful Rush. We will also miss our two departing seniors. Good luck, Drewry and Kristen!

Cross Country

The two things that you needed to know about cross country at W&L in 1992 were simple: Bo and Josephine.

Freshman Josephine Schaeffer lost only twice all season, at the ODAC Championship and at the NCAA Division III Championship where she finished 12th to become W&L's first woman to earn All- America status in cross country.

The talented freshman won each of her other seven races, including the regional championship, while shattering the school record. Schaeffer led W&L to its first ever state championship.

W&L won its second ODAC title in three years and finished third at the regional. Senior Nicole Casteel, fresh-

Sophomore running back Michael MacLane was the big star in the Davidson and Hampden-Sydney games. MacLane ran for 152 yards and a touchdown against Davidson. He added three receptions for 59 yards and another touchdown for good measure. The following week he ran for 87 yards and three touchdowns against Hampden-Sydney, but suffered an injury that forced him out for the rest of the season.

Junior Tom Mason, having recovered from a back injury in 1991, replaced MacLane as running back. In his first start, he followed his burly offensive line and powerful fullback Wilson Moore for 97 yards on just 19 carries to spearhead a 17-16 upset over Sewanee, which came to Wilson Field undefeated and ranked fourth in the South region.

W&L clinched its first winning season since 1988 with a win over Guilford in week eight. Mason carried 37 times for 184 yards and a touchdown, but this game belonged to the defense. W&L held Guilford to 106 yards of total offense, including negative three yards rushing, while forcing four turnovers.

William Propst, John Surface, Bob Ehret and Drew Thomas were all named first team All-ODAC. Phil Spears, Lyle Smith and Marc Newman all earned second-team honors, while Fallon was named coach of the year. Four W&L players also made the GTE Academic All-District team: Evans Edwards, Spears, Surface and Duane Van Arsdale. Edwards was named first team GTE Academic All-American.

Just 4-7 entering the final week of the regular season, the Generals got things rolling with a win over Bridgewater at Brewbaker Field in the first night home game for W&L in over 30 years. Mike Mitchem scored a hat trick to lead W&L in that game. The following Saturday the Generals knocked off Lynchburg to head into the ODAC Tournament on a roll.

The Generals beat Hampden-Sydney in the opening round before losing to Randolph-Macon in the semifinals.

W&L closed out the season with a win at VMI in the City Championship game. Senior Michael Hill secured a lead over VMI with his final W&L goal with 3:51 to play off a pass from fellow senior Reid Murphy.

Senior Greg Williams made first team All-ODAC for the third straight year, and Murphy made second team. The two players also were named first team all-region.

Interim coach Kristi Yarter led the Generals to a 13-14 record with a lineup that featured three freshmen, a sophomore and only one senior. The Generals pulled off several upsets, almost beat the defending conference champion Guilford, and the spirited group lost in straight games only six times all year.

W&L opened its home season with a win over Carnegie Mellon in the W&L Invitational. The Generals opened their conference season with a five-game loss to Guilford. W&L led 2-1, but Guilford rallied for the final two games, including a 15-12 win in the deciding game.

After a loss to Eastern Mennonite, the Generals got hot winning seven of their next eight matches. Included in that streak was an ODAC win over Roanoke and a second-place finish at the Notre Dame tournament. The season ended with a quarterfinal loss to Eastern Mennonite in four games in the ODAC tourney.

Senior Leslie Hess was named second team All-ODAC and also made the GTE Academic All-District team. Freshman Chrissie Hart led W&L in kills (193), hitting percentage (.208) and set a new school record with 69 blocks.

The Generals lost seven of nine games in the middle of the season, but finished with five straight victories, including wins over Wesleyan, Williams and Hopkins at the Division III tourney.

As always, the Generals had their battles with arch-rival Richmond. The two schools met five times, and the five meetings were decided by a combined total of just 11 goals. W&L came out on the winning end of three of those games.

Junior Greg Golub earned first-team All-Southern honors and led W&L in goals (73), assists (38) and steals (46). Seniors Chris Hagge and P.J. Waicus both made second team all-conference.

A season that began with much promise ended in frustration for the Generals. After falling to Trinity in the opening game of the year in San Antonio the Generals put together a string of wins over Hamline, MN, Sevanee and a surprising upset over Bridgewater. But W&L dropped 18 of its final 20 games with many heartbreakers along the way in a 5-19 season.

W&L put together one of its best games in a loss at Division II Queens College in Charlotte. W&L trailed by just three against the 20-win squad with possession in the final seconds, but a three-pointer fell short and W&L was forced to foul. Two nights later W&L's hopes for making the ODAC tourney ended with a loss to Eastern Mennonite in overtime.

Senior Bryan Watkins led W&L in scoring averaging 10.6 points a game, and sophomore forward Mark Connelly averaged 10.3 points and 4.8 rebounds. Junior center Robert Miggins averaged 9.7 points and 7.3 rebounds(7th in the ODAC). Freshmen Cam Dyer and Derek Carter both showed promise during the year.

W&L entered the final week ranked 10th in Division III and needing a win over archrival Roanoke to return to the NCAA Division III tournament. The bad weather early in the season had forced the postponement of the Roanoke game to the final week and the stage was set for a thriller. Roanoke came to Wilson Field ranked third in the country and coming off a 40-goal outburst against Va. Wesleyan. The Generals pulled off the upset 9-8 to the delight of a large W&L gathering. Senior John Hunter scored three first-quarter goals to stake W&L to a lead it would never relinquish and senior Brian Murtagh was unflappable in goal, making 18 saves.

Two days later the Generals romped over VMI 18-3 in the sixth annual Lee-Jackson Classic behind a school record-tying eight goals from senior Wiemi Douoguih to finish the regular season 12-2.

The wins vaulted W&L into the tournament where they headed to Ohio Wesleyan for a quarterfinal matchup. The game was a defensive standstill for three quarters. But the Bishops proved too much for W&L, and the Generals fell 8-7.

Douoguih was named the ODAC Player of the Year after tallying 50 goals (third most in school history) and 26 assists. He was joined on the all-conference team by Hunter, Murtagh and seniors Josh Levinson and Kirk Olsen.

The Generals enjoyed their best season ever, winning 14 games and their second straight ODAC title, and making their first-ever NCAA Division III Tournament appearance.

W&L won the regular-season ODAC title with a thrilling win at Roanoke on senior Paige Henke's goal. The Generals and Roanoke met for the second time in a week to decide the championship. With about 10 seconds left, junior Angie Carrington picked up a loose ball at midfield and raced toward the Roanoke goal. Carrington fed sophomore Nicole Ripken who scored the tie-breaking, winning goal with one second left to give the Generals their ODAC title and trip to the NCAA Tournament.

In the tournament, the Generals fell in the quarterfinals to Trenton State, the eventual national champion. Senior Lisa Dowling was named the ODAC Player of the Year as well as a first team All-American. She graduates as W&L's all-time leader in goals, assists and points for a game, season and career. Along with Dowling, senior Ginny Dallam was a first team All-ODAC pick and a second team All-American on defense, and Carrington was also a first team All-ODAC pick and a third team All-American. In the tournament, the Generals were led by junior Robby MacNaughton, who won his first ODAC title and took home conference player of the year honors. W&L also got single titles form freshmen Chris MacNaughton, Peter Hammond, senior Wes Ruggles, and junior David Schweppe. W&L swept the doubles flights with Robby MacNaughton and Hammond winning the top flight. At the NCAA Tournament, though, the pair was ousted in the first round by the top team from Kenyon. MacNaughton, playing in his first NCAA Division III singles tournament, also fell in the first round.

The 1993 Calyx was compiled by the members of the 1993 Calyx staff under the direction of Anthony Catalano and printed by Jostens/Hunter Publications, with origonal theme and cover design by Anthony Catalano. Thank you to: John Kannapell ('92) for the Colonnade artwork appearing on cover and end sheets; Scott Howe ('93) for the Washington and Lee Hymn; Patrick Hinely and Taylor Crothers ('93) for the theme section photography; and Andre Studios and Bruce Hasfurther for the underclass and senior pictures, respectively. A very special thank you to all those who supported the Calyx, its staff and its editor (especially my familiy for their love and support, Carol Calkins for all her help and those friendly chats in the University Center, Megan for her dedication, Kelli and Rick for their guidance and support, Rosanne and Kathy for being there, listening to me and putting up with my complaining, Bob for his help over Februrary break when we stumbled across the undiscovered country, all those who stayed after exams to help finish the book, my friends in ZAX, and everyone else who stopped by the Calyx office to visit or play a friendly game of darts). I couldn't have made it without you all!

—AJC

Leaving is seldom easy, but saying goodbye is often inevitable. Washington and Lee students approach graduation with satisfaction and pride, but they face the sadness of departing and bidding farewell to the friends they've made through the years.

Graduation is the closing of a book. Each page is a day, a friend, an experience, a memory. Though the book closes, the graduate has the world before him, a library of experience and knowledge yet to be consumed.

But as with any great book, graduates often reopen the pages of Washington and Lee. As alumni, they return, and they remember.

No one leaves Washington and Lee without memories of walking along the Colonnade, taking classes in the historic campus buildings, late-night studying and long weekends with friends.

THE BOOKSTORE

It's not surprising so many alumni return to W&L. The students might come and go from year to year, and the faculty might change, but the W&L community maintains a certain pride that endures the trials of time. Washington and Lee's traditions also endure as a pervasive constant in our ever-changing world. Such a combination of pride and tradition is what gives Washington and Lee a distinction all its own*.*

—Anthony Catalano

Come cheer for Washington and Lee,
We're going to win another victory;
The White and Blue we will ever wave in triumph,
For the University. RAH! RAH! RAH!
Fight to the finish we are with you,
Break thru the line on every play;
Rush the ball on down the field and we will win this game today.

When Washington and Lee's men fall in line,
We're going to win again another time;
For W and L I yell, I yell, I yell
And for the University; I yell, like hell!
And we will fight! fight! fight!
for every yard;
Circle the ends and hit that line right hard!
And we will roll those Wahoos on the sod!
Yes by God! RAH! RAH! RAH!
